Excerpt from Twenty-Five Years of Scribner's Magazine: Three Famous Contributors They adorn the rotunda in the centre of the building. Four of them are gigantic lunettes, placed midway between the drum of the dome and the piers supporting the latter. The other four are set in circular panels in the pendentives. In this part of his work Abbey dealt in general ideas, localized. In the first of his big lunettes he symbolizes The Spirit of Religious Liberty in a fleet of old sailing ships guided westward by angels. In Science Revealing Treasures of the Earth blind Fortune, gliding on her wheel between the ages of Peace and War, is poised above a group of miners just descending into the earth. The third lunette, entitled The Spirit of Light, points to the discovery of oil, a host of figures with flames on their uplifted finger-tips soaring into the night against a background filled with the familiar gaunt derricks of Pennsylvania. To show forth The Spirit of Vulcan Abbey paints in his fourth lunette a number of brawny laborers in...
