Excerpt from Rfd Letter to Radio Farm Directors From Radio and Television Service: November 14, 1952 Bill Tipton, formerly with Paymaster Network, dropped in the office last week. He passed on word from a letter from our friend John Douglass of the Australian Broadcasting Company. John says northern cattle areas are still in the middle of the worst drought in our history. Two million head of cattle have died, and the boys who get a living shoot ing alligators tell me that they now have to track alligators along the dry river beds in the same way as they would track a snake.
