Brand New Book. Excerpt from The Forests of Wyoming: Wood, Water, Forage, Wild Life, Recreation Only about 16 percent of the State of Wyoming is forest land. Nevertheless, this forest area of million acres produces timber, water, recreation, and grazing that are very important to the State and the Nation. Some of these products or uses have been important for a long time. However, recreation is only beginning to come into its own. The grazing load is about all the forests can support at the present time, but there is a great Opportunity to expand the other uses. In considering the timber resource under present and future conditions of forest management, timber use cannot be considered apart from the demands on the forest for water, recreation, and grazing. Few acres, if any, can be managed for one use alone. For this reason the demands of water, recreation, and grazing uses are discussed in addition to the timber resource the principal topic of this report to the Union...
