*An incredibly great book with perfect and lucid answers. Better then never, though i am quite late in start reading this one. You will not sense monotony at whenever you want of the time (that's what catalogues are for relating to if you question me).

DAYBREAK IN TURKEY: A NEW STUDY PLAN WITH FOUR PROGRAMS (CLASSIC REPRINT) (PAPERBACK)

Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Daybreak in Turkey: A New Study Plan With Four Programs The Turkish empire has been under the lime light of public interest for a year past. Columns in the newspapers are devoted to daily accounts of its problems and new possibilities. We do well to coin this present excitement into programs and reading courses to stimulate our missionary zeal. Our board has a peculiarly privileged position in that empire. With the exception of a few strong educational centers, we are alone in our spiritual leadership. Here we have made our greatest investment of men and money. One-third of our missionary force and one-third of our annual budget are devoted to the uplift of Turkey. For ninety years, we have sown seed, but now the day of harvest is at hand. Our churches must the more keenly appreciate our place of leadership if they come to know the devotion of our past and the challenge of our future in the Turkish empire. A second fact emphasizes the timeliness of the topic. The union courses for study issued by the Young People's Missionary Movement are this year turned to countries in which we have no work - to Korea and South America. It seems almost providential that we are thus compelled to turn our concentrated attention to topics of our own choosing at the moment when this our greatest mission field has forced itself upon our thought. At a later time, we will again unite with all denominations in union studies, but this fall, we will gather as a single family about our study lamp. It is possible also that many pastors are now...
