Date: 2010 -09-03. There is a joke in ancient China: According to legend, the immortal Lu Tung-pin Lu-yu a beggar, pity was moved, they put the stones have turned into street gave him gold. Beggars still go bad one and gave him a piece of gold enchant. He did not go. Dongbin asked him: You have to what? The beggar said: I want your fingers. Ironically, this story was originally used to greedy people. The beggars and Pushkin's fairy tale Fisherman and the Fish Story is somewhat similar to the old woman, was later passed as a laughing stock. However, with the development of the times, in the 21st century, again re-read the story, which contains the philosophical taste, you will find that the beggar is a good at learning. He knew, twelve gold there is always running out of time, if you get a Midas touch finger, that is, learn the alchemy in order to ensure food and clothing for life with no fear. From a learning perspective, he is studying methods, learning ability, grasp the fundamental. The beggars not only should not be laughed at, but should be our role model. For entering the writing world, and suffer no opportunities Shengtangrushi of us, lack of knowledge in writing, not a bit similar to the penniless beggar it? To get rich, want to be writing the world's rich do not have to learn writing in the Golden Touch it? This book is to provide a Golden, the writing guide canon. Currently, primary and secondary school language teaching is basically to read the famous famous-based, writing the contents of the...
